No. 14/2019

Re. : Announcement of the 12th April 2019 to Remain a Standard Working Day for Financial Institutions and Specialised Financial Institutions

The Cabinet has approved that Friday 12th April 2019 shall be an additional government official holiday, and allowed the Bank of Thailand (BOT) to consider whether it is appropriate to announce it as an additional special holiday for financial institutions and specialised financial institutions.

The BOT has considered and deemed appropriate to declare that the aforementioned day shall be a standard working day for financial institutions and specialised financial institutions, so as to avoid any disruption to economic activities, as financial institutions and specialised financial institutions are important intermediaries which provide financial services for the business sector and the public.
